Understanding Library of Congress Call Numbers

Library materials are in alphabetical order by their call number. All call numbers read left to right and top to bottom.

PR This is the general subject (in this case literature, English)

5397.12 This narrows the general subject to a specific subject. It reads as a whole number followed by a decimal (5397.12 would come before 5397.2).

.F26 Sometimes a third line narrows the subject even more. It is read alphabetically and then numerically as a decimal.

1999 This is the year the item was published or produced.

v.3 This is the volume number if the item is part of a set.

c.2 This indicates the copy number.
Circulation
Most books may be checked out for two weeks. CDs, and DVDs may be checked out for two days.

Coffee @ Cofer!!
Coffee is now available for purchase at $1.00 a cup. There is no charge if you use your own coffee mug and bring your own k-cups.

Curriculum Lab
The curriculum lab contains materials used by education majors to help prepare lesson plans, classroom activities and teaching units.

Equipment
Various equipment is available for use in the library. This includes DVD players, copier/scanner, computers, printers, headphones, microfiche/film reader / printer.

Hours
Library hours are posted near the entrance of the Library and on the Library homepage or by calling 706-865-2134 x 2200.

Interlibrary Loan
Students may borrow books and/or journal articles from other Institutions, if they cannot locate materials through current available resources. All borrowed material through interlibrary loan must be returned on time. Students are responsible for paying overdue charges set by the lending institution.

Internet Access
Internet access is available from all library computers and wireless internet service 24/7.

Juvenile Collection
Childrens books, both fiction and non-fiction, and AV materials are available. A total limit of ten items from this collection may be checked out at any one time.

Lost or Overdue Materials
Students are expected to return all library materials in a timely manner. If materials are not returned students cannot view grades nor request transcripts until all fines are paid and their library account cleared by library staff.

Online Databases
Full text, bibliographic databases and Ebooks are available.

Orientation and Instruction
Students may request one-on-one instruction, take advantage of online classroom tutorials, or attend in-class instruction with faculty.

Periodicals (journals, newspapers and magazines)
Periodicals and newspapers must be used in the library. Periodicals may be found in print or microfilm and microfiche formats. Journal and magazine articles may also be found by using a variety of online databases including GALILEO.

Public Access Catalog (PAC)
The PAC can be accessed from the Truett McConnell University webpage. Library holdings may be searched using author, title or subject entries.

Reciprocal Borrowing Privileges
Truett McConnell has reciprocal borrowing agreements with Georgia Private Academic Libraries, the University of North Georgia and the Christian Library Consortium. This free service is only available to faculty, students, staff and grants access to the physical collections of participating institutions. Borrowers must bring an ID and obtain a Community Patron Card from Cofer Library before visiting participating institutions. This service is valuable for those who may not live near their home institution.

Reference Assistance & Materials
Reference materials must be used in the building. Reference materials include encyclopedias, dictionaries, atlases, almanacs and other material deemed appropriate reference items. As a general rule, REF at the beginning of the call number denotes reference materials. Reference help is available for students during library hours and by emailing library@truett.edu

Reserve Material

Evaluating Web Sites

The Internet has made information available to everyone, and any topic can be researched. However, the difficulty is judging the reliability of the information. Information found on the Internet must be evaluated. Below are questions to think about when you are using resources from the internet.

Authority – Who wrote the information?
Don’t forget – anyone can create a website!!!

- Does the information have an author?
- Can you find out any information about the author?
  - Credentials
  - Education
  - Qualifications to write on the subject
- Is the site sponsored?
- Can you find any information on the organization sponsoring the site?
- Is the site affiliated with an educational institution?
- Can you find more information about the institution?
- Why was this article written? Information or opinion?
- Does it persuade you to buy a product?
- Does the author cite other sources used in the research?

Content–Purpose & Point of View
Don’t believe everything you read!!!

- What is the purpose of the website?
- Is the information factual? Can you verify the information?
- If sources are given, can you verify the sources?
- Is the information someone’s opinion?
- Is the website appropriate for your age and educational level?
Ask yourself these questions…

Accuracy, Currency & Scope
Be up to date and don’t assume anything!!!

◊ Is the website error free? No typos, spelling or grammar mistakes
◊ When was the site updated?
◊ When was the site created?
◊ Are links provided and are they usable and up-to date?
◊ If the site is based on a print version, a newer version may be available in print.
◊ Are graphs and charts used? If so, are they easy to read and current?

Access, Design and Navigation
Is it really worth your time?

◊ Is the site logically organized?
◊ Is the information you are looking for easy to find?
◊ Is a table of contents or index made available?
◊ Can you search the site?
◊ Do all the elements of the site work? Link? Interactive features? Animations?
◊ Does the site load easily?
◊ Is the page stable and reliable?
